Teachers Hired

A motion to hire several county teachers was finally approved by the county school board Monday night, after it was rejected at the July meeting because some of the teachers included in the motion were objectionable to board members.

Elbert Fields name, which had stopped the motion twice before, was allowed to pass this time. He will teach at Combs Grade School.

Another name, that of Sherman Coda, temporarily held up acceptance of the motion this time. School board member Paul Campbell was reluctant to hire Coda until school superintendent Gilbert Bowling called Campbell out of the meeting for a five minute private conference. When they returned, Campbell approved Coda and the motion.

Coda was principal of Combs Grade School last year, and reports came out in the meeting that Coda caused disruption of the school and dissension among his teaching staff there. Leo Allen moved that the teachers be hired, and Estill Napier seconded the motion.

A list of county teachers for 1958-59 can be found on back page of today's Herald.

School's Closing Draws Protest

Several Ball Creek community parents have asked that the school in their community be operated this year, after the state board of education ordered it closed because too few students were attending it.

The parents came to a meeting in the winter until late in the evening, when they rode the bus to Robinson.

School Superintendent Gilbert Bowling told the parents that the orders to close the school that his office had, and suggested they get in touch with the Frankfort office to continue their plea.

The Ball Creek school is one of several small county schools that are in the process of being shut down to allow the children to attend larger, consolidated schools.

The parents asserted there was an error in the teacher's report.

To Travel One Mile

If the school is not re-opened, the Ball Creek children will be transported one mile and a half to Robinson Elementary School, where about 250 children now attend.

One mother said, "I just can't send my kids to Robinson." They said the children were forced to stand in the cold too long, and they did not get home

"Best Set-Up" Still Destroyed By The Deputies

A still which had "been operating for sometime" was destroyed Tuesday afternoon near Bowlington by four deputies of the Perry County Sheriff's office.

The well-hidden still, including 120 gallons of mash, and 100 pounds of malt corn, was found by Deputies Paul Fugate, Yancey Amis, Johnnie Deaton and Earl Amis on John Eversole Branch. Operators of the still were not found.

Fugate said the still was hidden "back up a hollow" near a cliff. He called the operation was one of the "best set-ups" ever found by the Sheriff's office.

The deputy said the moonshiners had been using a spiket steam of water from the cliff to cool the worm. The water flowed into the "flake" stand through a home made, bark funnel.

All equipment was destroyed. County Sheriff Paul Amis and deputies are continuing their search for the moonshiners.

Appraisal Result Expected Soon

The third appraisal of property in the city's East Main Street Urban Renewal Project is expected to be returned here sometime next week. City Manager Hobert Wooten announced yesterday.

Wooten said he had been informed of this by R. W. Crabtree, Lexington, appraiser hired to determine the value of the property.

Previous appraisals have proved unsatisfactory to landowners.

If the third appraisal is approved by the Home and Housing Finance Agency, Atlanta, Ga., the city will again endeavor to purchase the land.

Dr. Boggs, Gibson Named To Board

Appointment of Gibson Apparently Thwarts Suit Planned by Feltner

Dr. Eli Boggs, Hazard physician, and R. W. Gibson, Lothair wholesale groceryman, are now officially the two new members of the Hazard Board of Commissioners.

Both men were "appointed" to office, Monday night, by Mayor Douglas Combs. Gibson, present for the meeting, was sworn in immediately.

Gibson's appointment by Mayor Combs apparently thwarted any legal suit which might be filed as a result of his election to the office on July 15th.

At a board meeting then, the Mayor and Commissioners Calloway Colwell and George Feltner elected Gibson to fill one of the two new seats on the board created by the last session of the legislature.

When Feltner, however, failed to get support from Combs and Colwell on his nominee, Attorney Carl Morgan, for the second vacancy, Feltner requested that his vote approving Gibson be withdrawn. Feltner reportedly, was considering a suit to contest Gibson's election.

In other business, on a motion by Commissioner Colwell Board approved $248 for the Little League to pay for lights at Collins Field. The money will come from the sale of city scrapiron.

The Board was advised by City Manager Hobert Wooten that the State Highway Department has requested the city to prevent parking on Lovers Street. Lovers is a State maintained road.

The Knott County 4-H Council met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stamper Thursday July 31 A business session followed a potluck dinner at which time the County Fair catalog was discussed and re-worked for the coming fair.

County Teacher Meeting Planned

Police Arrest Third Man In Leslie Killing

Verland Hoskins, 34, was arrested by State Police in a remote section of Leslie County Monday in connection with the ambushing of George Bowling, who was shot from a bulldozer last Saturday.

Police detective Orlester Mahoney said he and three troopers found Hoskins sitting under a tree with a high powered rifle leaning against it. Bowling was reportedly shot with a high powered rifle.

Mahoney said Hoskins sent word to Leslie County jailer that he would give himself up if State Police would come after him. Hoskins requested that at least four police come.

Hoskins is the third man to be arrested in connection with the ambushing. His brother, Marvin, and nephew, Willard Brock, were in the Perry County jail when Verland Hoskins was arrested.

The three men were taken to Frankfort yesterday and submitted to a lie detector. Official reports on the tests have not come in yet.

Aiding Mahoney in arresting Hoskins were Troopers Bobby Dees, Sylvester Walters and Charlie Webb.

Council Runs Head-on Into Wrath Of Female

What is it about a "woman's wrath?" Whatever it is, Hazard city fathers ran into it head-on from Mrs. Earl Begley, Monday night, during the Board of Commissioners' beef session.

Mrs. Begley appeared before the board to complain about:

1. "juveniles" raiding an apple tree on River Road;

2. the parking problem around her home caused by students of the Vocational School;

3. the condition of the road bed; and

4. the need for better police protection.

Better Roads In County

Mrs. Begley told board members River Road was a "mule path," and that a resident of the county had recently told her,

"We got better roads than this in Leatherwood."

Of police protection, she said: "Let me tell you something else I asked Chief Heath to patrol the road and he said the road was so rough to patrol."

Juveniles, she said, have the run of the area because there is no police protection.

Parking is problem along River Road, according to Mrs. Begley, because students of the Hazard Vocational School block the road. She said several don't have the city automotive sticker.

Mayor Combs instructed City Manager Hobert Wooten to have the police department find out which cars are without stickers.

Mrs. Begley said River Road, calling it "Lovers Lane," is in need of repairs and lighting. City Manager Wooten told the board Kentucky Power Co. had been requested several weeks ago to install a street light on the road.

Complains On Water Bill

Appearing before the board to request the property evaluation of George Ambrose, Allais, be lowered was Farmer Johnson, Deputy Tax Commissioner, Perry County. Johnson said the city had assessed Ambrose's property at over twice its actual value. The board assured Johnson the assessment would be lowered following an inquiry.

Registering a complaint on his water bill was Joe Morris. Morris was told by City Manager Hobert Wooten that work would start Tuesday to correct a faulty sewer on Morris' land.

Mrs. Poe Fox, Yards Section, requested city fathers to grade the Yards road Ed Hogg Tate Street, complained of red dog rolling off the street into his garden.

Handling Of Gill Incident Brings Protest From Resident

The Joe Gill controversy flared anew Monday night when C. R. Mooney, a Leatherwood resident and Herald correspondent, appeared before the county school board to ask that Gill be reinstated as head basketball coach at Leatherwood High School.

Gill, coach at Leatherwood three years, was recently replaced as head basketball coach by Delano Combs, a former Dilce Combs cager and recent graduate of Wolford College. Gill was kept on as baseball coach.

Represents People

Mooney told the school board he was expressing the sentiment of the majority of people at Leatherwood when he asked that Gill's basketball job be given back.

School superintendent Gilbert Bowling told Mooney he thought to change the status of Gill and Combs now would cause trouble. He said he would let the situation stand as it is. Mooney made his request early in the meeting about six p.m., but did not get a reply until nine p.m.

Mooney asked George Caudill, who represents the Leatherwood school district, what his opinion on Gill's removal was. Caudill would not give Mooney a direct reply.

Gill Kept In Dark

The original dispute over the coaching position came at the July meeting of the school board, when Joe Gill wanted to know why he was being replaced as basketball coach and why he had not been informed of his replacement.

Delano Combs was given a contract for the job weeks before Gill knew anything about it, Gill charged.

Gill has signed a contract for the head baseball coaching job at Leatherwood.

Kentucky Gets $59 Million In US Road Funds

Kentucky's share of federal-aid funds for highway construction totals $59,709,895 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1960 according to a federal government announcement.

Figures of the U.S. Bureau of Roads show Kentucky's 1960 apportionment is greater than the $52,717,103 regular apportionment for the fiscal year 1959 but less than the total granted for 1959. The 1959 total was $63,592,512, including the regular $52,717,103 apportionment and $10,875,409 extra provided under the 1958 federal-aid highway act.

The amount for fiscal 1960 includes $7,443,339 for federal-aid primary highways, $6,197,819 for secondary roads and $2,338,487 for urban highways. Work on these systems is financed on a 50-50 basis; hence, the state must put up $15,979,645 to get the equal amount of federal aid made available.

A sum of $43,730,250 in the 1960 apportionment is for work on Kentucky's portion of the proposed interstate superhighway system. The federal government furnishes $9 for each $1 supplied by the state for this superhighway work. The state will have to put up $4,858,916 to get the $43,730,250.

MEMO FROM Chaimier Lindon

How much preparation is needed for COLLEGE?

Most important is the financial preparation you must make now to assure the funds your child will need later on. And one of the most certain ways you can do this is by buying your child New York Life's popular Whole Life Insurance, today!

Premium rates for Whole Life are so low while your child is young that most fathers can easily afford the $10,000 minimum face amount. And they stay the same no matter how long the policy is kept in force.

Cash values grow so that by the time your child reaches college age a substantial fund is at hand to help pay his expenses. Or, if college money isn't needed, cash values can be used later on for other purposes — including retirement income. Contact me for details.

Medical Armor Provided For Your Baby

From the moment an infant is born modern medicine begins to wrap a protective cloak of science about him.

Silver nitrate is immediately dropped in his eyes to guard him against blindness.

At two or three months he is vaccinated against diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough) and tetanus.

At three or four months he is immunized against smallpox.

At six months he is inoculated against typhoid fever.

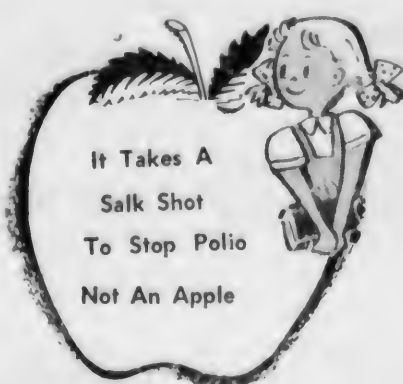

No wonder the number of deaths among infants under one year old has dropped from 162 per thousand in 1900 to 29 per thousand in 1955.

Since 1955 a new link has been forged by medical science in the infant's armor against disease—the anti-polio vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk on March of Dimes funds.

Too many parents do not know that even the tiniest tots may be stricken with paralytic polio. Nothing is more pitiful than to see a baby bereft of the power of motion, encased in an iron lung before he has even learned to walk. Until three years ago there was little we could do to prevent it. But now that we have the Salk vaccine, it is gross negligence on the part of parents to deny their babies this protection.

Last year infants under one year old showed the highest rate of polio attack. Babies from one to two years old came next.

Many physicians recommend the first Salk shot for babies at the age of two or three months. Consult your doctor now.

Worst Crime Is Non Profit Company

During the 10 years which will end in 1965 this country will consume some 40 billion barrels of oil. That amount is equal to 80% of all the crude produced within our borders since the discovery of oil 97 years ago.

In that same decade, according to a study made by the Chase Manhattan Bank, American oil men must invest the staggering sum of $73 1/2 billion—or we consumers won't get all the oil products we want and need. The money will go for new wells, new transportation facilities, new refineries, new distribution and marketing plants and systems.

Grassroots Opinion

PORT GIBSON, MISS. REVELLE: "While we hear and read much about conservation of our natural resources . . . let us think seriously of the prevention of erosion of the great principles of American Democracy. In some areas of our country the soil has been allowed to erode until the areas become barren. Prevention of this erosion is a constant fight—so is the prevention of erosion of Democratic and free enterprise principles; we can't afford to be negligent for a minute."

HARK THE HERALD

Odds And Ends Take Care of Column Again

My apologies to any number of readers who've written this column over the past few weeks. However, the press of other tasks has kept me from turning out this feature.

From Flora B. Fugate, of Dwarf, came this cute little ditty on "mother-in-laws." Take note, husbands; this is meant for you.

A mother-in-law is ridiculed and mocked,
A mother praised and applauded;
Yet a woman must be a mother
It's men who make the most complaint.
He whom God made from dirt
And since the fall of Adam
He has hid behind a woman's skirt
The best thing a married man can do
Is leave those old hogs alone
You know they are hard and crooked
They was made from a crooked bone.
Just remember this you son-in-laws
Before shooting off your jaws—
That Junior's loving mother is John Doe's mother in law.

And from the Naples, Fla. Shopper comes this bit of news about some folks well known about Hazard. The Shopper is a weekly newspaper there.

Bruce Boleyn, of Boleyn, Ky., came up with this verse for some the metropolitan newspapers which are doing their best to knock Eastern Kentucky and the people of our mountains.

The Voice of The Mountaineer

Go away you city goosips
Leave us Mountain folks alone
We're the subjects of your topics
But we're Americans to the Bone.

We ain't well educated.

As you city children are
You say yonder,
And we say Thor.

You refer to Mountain People
As common Southern Trash
Because our ole Church Steeple
Is sometimes a mountain Ash.

We love the Kentucky Mountains
And we will always call them Home
Here we drink from woodland fountains
That run free from muddy foam.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Markum

Firm believers in "getting more fun out of life," Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Markum are naturals for the motel business and a section that prides itself on the tourist attractions can applaud Tamiami Motel on E. Tamiami Trail. People seeking good accommodations have been quick to realize that here is the best for the least.

It has been said that the really successful man is the fellow who gets paid for doing the things he likes to do and therefore we put Mr. and Mrs. Markum at the head of the "successful list." They also must be included on the list of those who have helped make Naples known as a friendly and hospitable place.

People with a natural ability in the art of living, their business has been operated with the guests' entertainment, comfort and enjoyment foremost in their minds and since they put the proper value on these commodities, they spare no expense or labor to achieve their goal.

Although it's been said "A merry heart doeth good like medicine," we will not place Mr. and Mrs. Markum with the county's medical men but in the department of public relations, so important to the section's progress, we will place them.

"Friends" Pay Own Expenses To Do Free Public Service Work For Us

7 Boys, 12 Girls Have Helped
"Paint-up" County Churches
Gurney Norman

In spite of this rain-filled summer, the weather is always fair at Dilce Combs High School, where 19 good Friends have gotten together.

At least the laughter of boys and girls emitting above the rattle of pots and pans in the school cafeteria about dinner time every day would indicate that all is fair for the working visitors to Perry County.

The high school seniors and college students from 12 states now living at Dilce Combs are members of the American Friends Service Committee, a group originated by the Quakers that puts Quaker ideals of loving their fellow men into practical application by setting up camps in areas where there is work of a public service nature to be done.

The Friends, seven boys and 12 girls, plus counselors and camp director Ed Salisbury and his family, represent Maine, Oregon, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Ohio, North Carolina, Florida, Massachusetts, Connecticut, California, New York, and one camper, Miss Ute Theil, is from Nuremberg, Germany.

Full Days of Labor

Unlike most summer youth camps, these boys and girls are here to work, and they pay their own expenses for the privilege. They put in full days and weeks of labor, just like any wage earner. So far, they have painted the Cornette Hill, Glomawr and Fourseam schools, helped install a new playground, set up independent recreation programs at Lothair and Glomawr, as well as aid the city with its thriving recreation program.

Boys and girls work side by side, painting, shoveling and playing with children.

In the four vehicles the Friends have at their disposal, they embark each morning in groups of four to eight for the day's labor. All but three, that is, the sad-faced three who remain at the school building all day for K.P. duty, washing and ironing and other domestic chores that must be taken care of promptly in any well-organized home.

The kids carry sandwiches for lunch, and are their own disciplinarians when it comes to staying at the job until quitting time.

Luxuries Are Few

The $135 they pay to come to camp by no means pays for any luxuries. Dilce Combs School is a fine building but classrooms were made for bedrooms, and the canvas cots and sleeping bags are a far cry from the innerspring mattresses at home. The girls have taken over the second floor of the school, and the boys inhabit a classroom on the first floor.

Weekends are made fun and worthwhile for the Friends, who, no doubt found Eastern Kentucky strange and interesting in many respects. One weekend with sleeping bags and tooth brushes in hand, the whole bunch set out for Cumberland Falls and camped there for a night, taking in all the lush scenery of that state park. They have also made pilgrimages to Berea for the outdoor drama, "Wilderness Road," and to Hindman. Leathwood and Hyden, to visit the Frontier Nursing Service.

Group Is Also Serious

But all is not light-hearted work or jovial camping with the youthful Friends. When a speaker came to the school to talk about juvenile delinquency, the group exhibited more than adult interest in the subject, and contributed very seriously to the discussion. Other round-table discussions on topics such as Russia and Pacifism also caught the Friend's interest.

No tyrannic counselors, either, are necessary

This Is A Classroom?

Lounging in a Dilce Combs classroom in front are faintly-visible Ann Coles, Margaret Soule and Gaior Roberts, and behind them on canvas cots are Lee Ann Salisbury, Kathy Salisbury and Alice Tweedie. The classroom has been their home the past six weeks, and they will all leave for home in several states next week.

A Word of Thanks to the A.F.S. "Campers"

Next week we bid adieu to 19 "Friends" who have done much this past summer to move Perry County further along the road of progress.

We refer light-heartedly, of course, but with deference and respect to the "campers" of the American Friends Society who have been conducting a work camp within the county.

By now, we are sure most Perry Countians are aware of what the Friends have done here. Several churches and schools have been repainted by them; a Tot Lot constructed. Their most important achievement as far as this newspaper is concerned, however, has been in the field of recreation.

Aided Recreation Program

The Friends have been instrumental in getting this county's first comprehensive recreation program off the ground.

Statement By Minister And Members Of Hazard Funeral Director Association

The Hazard Ministerial Association and the Hazard Funeral Directors, in joint session agree on the following statement:

We recognize that death is an emergency demanding the attention and services of friends, and of neighbors, and of professional helpers. We place ourselves and all possible assistance to the families whom we are called upon to serve. We consider this will and well re of the bereaved to be of supreme importance in such a crisis. Therefore, we always strive to meet the needs of bereaved families in so far as possible.

At the same time there are other principles and persons that should be given consideration when planning for a Christian Funeral.

We believe that the Bible teaches that Sunday should be observed as a Day of Resurrection, of Worship, and of Rest. Therefore, we question the suitability of planning a funeral on the Day of Resurrection; the propriety of extra services which distract from the regular services, and the Christian fairness of necessitating others to work on Sunday. We, therefore, want to suggest that whenever possible our people refrain from planning funerals on Sundays.

We have observed in past experiences, that when funerals are planned on Sunday, there are a large number of people who are prevented from sharing in the privilege of worship in their regular Church Services. We are also aware of the fact that Sunday funerals require a full day's labor from a number of persons.

In view of the long standing custom of using Sundays for funerals, we want the public to realize that this is not a statement of refusal, but rather a declaration of preference.

Group Was Formed in 1917 To Rebuilt War-torn Europe

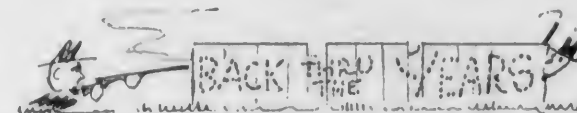

to keep the camp well-coordinated. The group holds business meetings on Sunday nights to plan the week's projects, assign duties and discuss the general state of affairs in camp. The campers make their own rules that govern their conduct at home and at work, and submit a periodical progress report to the central Friend's office in Philadelphia.

Widespread Organization

The first Friend's group was organized in this country in 1917 to go to Europe and help rebuild what war had destroyed. Today, there are five high school camps similar to the one in this county; three college work camps, including one in Alaska, and other work opportunities for young people sponsored by the same organization.

Deeds of juvenile delinquencies get much space in newspapers, and for some this may be the "Beat Generation." But the attitude of the young Friends toward this modern world and their practical, positive approach toward curing social ills is something adults might well observe and learn from.

The Friends will end seven weeks of benevolence to Perry County when they depart next Friday. The Kings' English is limited when it comes to expressing gratitude, so a simple "thank you" must suffice as we bid two dozen gracious people goodbye.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

Power Mower Big Help, But Also Danger Item

Paul Keen, County Agricultural Extension Agent

John Caudill, Associate County Agricultural Extension Agent

Your power mower is a labor-saver and a fast-working machine—but it also is a potential safety hazard. Here are some pointers to remember before, during and after using the devices.

Don't fill the fuel tank while you are smoking, or while the engine itself is hot from previous use; clean up gasoline spillage before starting the mower; don't let children operate the mower without an adult's supervision; be careful of playing children while mower is in operation, as whirling blades can throw a rock, etc., with powerful force; stand clear of the blades when starting the mower, or while operating it; clean up the yard before mowing, to get rid of rocks, bricks, wire, etc., left in grass which could become missiles when picked up by the blades; use a safe container for gasoline and store it out of reach of children.

And watch your mowing operation on slopes; you might slip on a terrace, etc., and thrust a foot or hand into the blades.

Sod Culture

Of the different methods of soil management in apple orchards, sod culture is the most common system. It lends itself to the requirements for growth in mature trees and helps to control erosion.

Since both trees and sod take up nitrogen from the soil, fertilizer supplying this element can be applied in sufficient amount in the spring to promote good moderate growth and fruit set. Then the grasses will take up the excess nitrogen and leave the trees comparatively low in this element when the fruit is maturing and the wood is hardening for the winter.

The judgment of an experienced grower is the best guide to the amount of nitrogen fertilizer required to produce the good moderate amount of growth that is associated with good fruitfulness. Too much or too little growth is undesirable.

It is obvious that a sod system will require more nitrogen fertilizer than clean cultivation, but this cost is more than off-set by the conservation of soil fertility and labor required.

The sod cover should be mowed from time to time, and if it becomes too dense, disking to reduce the stand of grass somewhat may be desirable. Sometimes this partial working-out is called "trashy cultivation."

Tall weeds and grasses not only are unattractive but hinder operations and harbor many pests. A well kept sod cover makes the orchard a pleasant place in which to work. It is easier to get around with the spray rig during wet weather and mud is avoided on fallen fruit.

It should be emphasized, however, that sod makes a fine place for mice to breed and they will girdle trees both young and old. A systematic plan should be followed every year to control the mice. Poison bait should be put out through the orchard at least three or four times during the fall, winter and spring. Special bait usually is handled by farm bureaus and farmer cooperatives.

The Danger of Field

This past winter was one during which a considerable amount of damage was done to fruit trees, particularly apples, by field mice. Following the open winter which we had, the population of field mice increased at an alarming rate and this gives the possibility for even greater damage during the coming winter unless adequate steps are taken to reduce this pest.

There isn't much that can be done during the summer to combat this pest except that cultivation in the orchard, if it can be done without damage to the soil by causing erosion, will help considerably by making the surroundings less suitable for the mice.

Examine your orchard now to see if mice are present, as indicated by the small round holes which they make in the soil and the tunnels and runways which they make underneath the grass along the surface of the soil. Later this year, in Oct. or Nov., detailed directions will be given on how to control this pest.

Fifth Heart Clinic To Be Held In County August 21

The fifth heart clinic for medically indigent children will be held in the Perry County Health Department, Hazard, on Thursday, Aug. 21, 1958. This clinic will serve patients from Harlan, Knott, Leslie, Letcher and Perry counties. All physicians in these five counties have been informed of the clinic and invited to send patients and to participate in the clinic themselves, if possible.

Guest consultants at the clinic will be Drs. Joseph A. Little, and Sidney Duman, both of Louisville. Co-sponsored by the Kentucky Heart Association and the State and County Health Departments, the clinic provides a diagnostic service for the patient, along with recommendations for treatment and management of the case. It also provides an opportunity for the referring physician to consult with the clinician regarding his patient.

Necessary expenses of the clinic are being underwritten by the Kentucky Heart Association as a Heart Fund service. BLUE GRASS

Blue Diamond Families Visit Here

John Smedley

Well folks here we come out of Blue Grass this lovely Sunday morning, Aug. 3 at 5:30 a.m. and it's still raining. Some say it has rained 28 days so today should make the 29th. Mr. Sam Campbell, of Big Creek and our magistrate of the 4th district for several years was shopping in Hazard, Saturday, Aug. 2 and meeting his many friends and he sure has a lot of them. Mr. Campbell seems to be in the best of health and mighty jolly. I sure enjoy talking with him.

Mr. Fred Higdon, Leonard Hickman and Harold Richardson, all from Blue Diamond were all visitors in Hazard, Saturday. Visiting from Leatherwood we had Mr. Chester Hensley and Hargis Collinsworth. Sorry I didn't get to speak to you Hargis and Chester but I saw you enjoying those big bags of popcorn as you were getting in your car to go back home.

Mr. Melton Moore left for Phoenix, Ariz., Sunday but will return to Hazard soon.

Roaring Twenties

After reading the Roving Reporter's story on the Zine Man and She Monster, and Billy the Kid being played by Anthony Dexter in the July 28th issue of the Hazard Herald it took my mind back to the roaring 20's where I was sitting in the same theatre watching a silent picture of Tom Mix who was Chasing some Cattle Thieves. The only gun fire you could hear was outside on Main Street.

It was very quiet in the theatre, no popcorn down your shirt collar. If you couldn't read you had to guess at what the argument was. Well anyhow Tom was in a slightly wooded section and the crooks were behind some trees. So Tom with guns drawn was creeping through the trees where all of a sudden a little fellow of about nine jumped up and screamed look out there Tom, he's right behind that tree.

Some thirty odd years ago around 1927 I believe our first talking picture or sound was introduced in our theatres here and the name of the first talking picture was Madam X. Well A. R. Barber, Sam Barnett, Willie Dawabare, Julian Leedy, Elmer Roll, Harry Greer, Nolan Hayes, Glenn Haydon, all of Hazard, and Mr. Sladon Douthitt and T. K. Strong, of Jackson,

Recipe of the Week

Housewives who have an eye to economy and variety should not overlook variety meats, says Mrs. Lucille W. Warren, UK Extension foods specialist. Included are tongue, heart, liver, brains, sweetbreads and oxtails. They are tasty and nutritious and often are real delicacies.

Tongues of beef, lamb, veal and pork may be prepared and served hot or cold, but beef is larger in size. Cold spiced tongue is an inviting summer dish.

Spiced Beef Tongue
1 3-lb tongue
1 lemon
1 t mixed pickling spices
1 medium onion
1 T salt

Water to cover
Wash the tongue thoroughly and place in a deep kettle or in the deep well of the range. Cover meat with hot water, then add sliced lemon, pickling spices, sliced onion and salt. Cover and simmer until tender (about 1 to 1½ hours per pound).

Cool slightly, remove connective tissue and skin, and chill thoroughly. Slice and serve with horseradish sauce made by folding 3 tablespoons of drained horseradish into ½ cup of whipping cream, whipped. Add ½ teaspoon of salt.

If spices are not desired, they may be omitted in the cooking along with the sliced lemon. Then add a few peppercorns and 1 bay leaf.

Tongue may be cooked in the pressure cooker at a considerable saving of time.

Menu: Sliced spiced beef tongue, potato salad, buttered broccoli, tomato-cucumber salad, biscuits, butter and fresh peaches with cream.

E.K.R.P.C. Hears Region's Road Needs Outlined By Official

Prestonsburg—Eastern Kentucky's road needs were outlined Monday to State Highway Commissioner Ward Oates by the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission.

The commission, meeting with Oates here, said it favored:

1. Improving KY 15 from Winchester to KY 159, including any new construction to continue that same general route through Slade eastward to serve the Hazard, Prestonsburg, Paintsville, and Pikeville area.
2. Making U. S. 119 a priority road to facilitate access to Southeast Kentucky from Pineville to the West Virginia line and to Pikeville, with first consideration given to the Page-to-Harian section.

3. Immediate improvement of U. S. 25-E from Corbin through Barbourville.

Oates told the commission he recognized the area's need for more and better roads.

He said the Department of Highways is working on long-range plans for a network of modern highways in Eastern Kentucky.

The commission told Oates direct routes from Pikeville through central Eastern Kentucky toward Lexington and from Pikeville through Southeast Kentucky to intersect with the proposed interstate north-south route were greatly needed.

Appearing with Oates before the commission was Forrest Johnson, Frankfort, location engineer for the Department of Highways.

Trapisin Troublesome

Corinne Clarke

I just heard as how a feller said a local doctor gave him chigger pills. He is to take one each morning and can work in the chigger crop all day without one taking a bite. I'd say the old wives remedy of salty butter rubbed into the chigger after he starts digging into your skin is the best way to help you not scratch yourself to death.

A little boy was scratching himself first in one place then the other and finally sighed and said Bram I'm just loaded with chiggers. Little Dobra Lynn Dyer said her jiggers were just dying for her to scratch them but she just had to say "jiggers I can't scratch you." She is age three and had been warned that if she scratched she would make big bad places come all over her that would be a lot worse than the chiggers.

Some folk say scour them out with cloxox, others say kivers them up with nail polish and I do reckon some doctors deal out chigger medicine.

Egg Law To Be Strictly Enforced

Egg handlers and dealers may expect rigid enforcement of the Kentucky egg candling and grading laws, Director C. Harold Bray of the Agriculture Department's markets division states. The division has the responsibility for licensing and controlling egg marketings within the state.

Bray emphasized that he is not commencing a "crackdown" on the egg marketing industry, but "an orderly movement into the strict enforcement phase" following what he termed "the education and service phase," a period in which the industry was familiarized with the provisions of the Kentucky egg marketing law.

"The law has been in effect 18 months now, and every egg handler in Kentucky has been contacted and had the law explained in detail," Bray said. "I feel that ample time has been given for everyone interested to fully understand the intent of the law."

Smithsboro 4-H Champion Attends Forestry Camp

How many board feet of lumber can a sawmill get from a sound and straight log 28 inches in diameter and 12 feet long?

This problem and many other relating to woodland management, protection and utilization will be tackled this week as Donnie Lee Collins, son of Orville and Dorothy Collins of Smithsboro, and 28 other boys and girls attend the 4th Annual 4-H Forestry Camp at the University of Kentucky's Robinson Forest in Breathitt County.

Donnie and the others are county champions in 4-H forestry projects and won scholarships to the camp over all the other 4-H club members who completed a forestry project last year. They are studying forestry subjects like tree identification, planting, measurement of both logs and standing timber, fire protection, harvesting and sawmilling practices.

The Hazard Herald
Thursday, August 7, 1958

Camp Director James A. Newman, State Extension Forester, has called upon the University of Kentucky, the U. S. Forest Service, the Kentucky Division of Forestry and a number of companies for the teaching and camping staff.

The 4-H Forestry Camp is financed by wood-using industries of the state through the Kentucky Forest Industries Committee to promote interest in forest conservation by 4-H club boys and girls.

Incidentally, Donnie found that a sound and straight log 28 inches in diameter and 12 feet long will produce about 440 board feet of lumber when sawn.

TRUTH-AD FOR THE UNCHURCHED

No believer experiences sinless perfection, until he sees Jesus at death or the Second Coming. All men are sinners. When men are saved, they do not become sinless, but they become forgiven sinners who love God and try to please Him. When they present themselves for baptism they should be required to confess that they have committed sins. After baptism they still stumble in sin, but they try to serve the Lord and confess to Him when they fail. God treats His children as you do yours. He disciplines them, but does not disown them when they make mistakes.

Look for a TRUTH-AD every Thursday.
The good NEWS belongs in the NEWSPaper, but LOOK in the BOOK it comes from, and SEARCH for the CHURCH that obeys that book most fully.

Sip, Sip,
Hooray....

It's PET CHOCOLATE!

You're sure to get a cheer every time you serve the children a glass of ice cold PET CHOCOLATE — it's the real chocolate they all love for it is made with daily fresh Pet Grade A Pasteurized Milk . . . and flavored with pure, imported chocolate — a rich chocolate flavor . . . the flavor you get — ONLY from PET!

When you want to make a special treat, drop a scoop of PET ICE CREAM in a tall, frosty glass of PET CHOCOLATE — and watch 'em come back for more!
